

Illustration Inspired by Caldecotts

Award winning illustrators inspire young artists

Students grade 3 through 6 will create 4 pieces of artwork that are inspired by illustrators of Caldecott winning books. Students who took the “Inspired by Caldecotts” writing class in January can create visual art inspired by their writing. What? You didn't take the Writing Class? That's O.K., you can still come and create art. Projects will include an experimental acrylic painting, mixed media illustration, a zoom drawing, and printmaking.

When: 5 Thursdays February 18, 25, March 4, 11, 18, from 3:10-4:30

Where: Audubon Art-Science Room

Who: 3rd through 6th graders who love to create art

Cost: $115

Note: Students who took the “Inspired by Caldecotts” class can link their art to their writing. Didn't take the writing class? No problem, your art will stand on it's own.

Registration form: Illustration Inspired by Caldecotts Class

Child's Name _____

Parent's Name/Phone Number _____

Grade _____ Teacher _____

Getting picked up by: _____ Going to the YMCA? Yes No

Enclosed is a check made to Audubon PTSA for $115

Instructor Maxine Pippin has an art degree and has been teaching art at the Family Learning Center for 3 years. She has been sharing art with Audubon students for 6 years thru the Art Docent program.

Questions ? Email Maxine at mxn_pippin@yahoo.com